A full-page view of a blank sheet of graph paper. The grid consists of small squares formed by thin black lines. There are two vertical lines that divide the page into three columns: one narrow column on the left, a wide central column, and another narrow column on the right. Similarly, there are two horizontal lines that divide the page into three rows: a narrow top row, a wide middle section, and a narrow bottom row. These four lines intersect to form a larger rectangular frame in the center of the page. The rest of the page is filled with the standard grid pattern.
